Hubbardton Forge breaks ground for new addition

With little fanfare, Hubbardton Forge began work on yet another addition to the Castleton Vermont manufacturing facility. This latest project is the seventh expansion since 1988, when the company moved from Hubbardton VT to the present location in the town of Castleton.

The expansion will add an additional 29,000 square feet of warehouse and production space to support the continued growth of the company. The construction is scheduled to be completed in early January, and will be followed by internal renovations of office space.

The company is planning an open house in the fall of 2004, in conjunction with the celebration of Hubbardton Forge's 30th anniversary.
